

Fair Share Worksheet

50/50 is not the same as fair

PARTNER A

PARTNER B

THE MATH	A	B
Monthly income after tax
Share of combined income
50/50: each pays half the bills
Proportional: your share of the bills
= as a % of your OWN income

SHARED BILLS, TOTAL

THE 50/50 GAP BETWEEN YOU

Include the remembering, not just the doing. Knowing the dog is due at the vet IS the work.

READ THESE BEFORE YOU START

\u2022 Nobody is lying when the two columns don't match.

\u2022 The work you don't do is genuinely hard to see. That's why it's called invisible.

\u2022 This is a conversation, not a verdict, and not a scoreboard to win.

\u2022 Pick ONE row to move this month. Not all of them. One.

WHICH ROW SURPRISED YOU MOST?

WHICH ROW DID YOU NOT KNOW THE OTHER ONE WAS DOING?

WHAT IS THE ONE THING THAT WOULD MAKE THE BIGGEST DIFFERENCE?

WHAT WILL ACTUALLY CHANGE, AND STARTING WHEN?

WHEN WILL WE LOOK AT THIS PAGE AGAIN?

Weekly Check-In

Fifteen minutes. Same time every week.

THE FOUR QUESTIONS

1. Anything on your mind about money this week?

2. What's in the diary that I should know about?

3. Is anything feeling uneven right now?

4. What do you need from me this week?

Month: _____

Individual Money

What's yours stays yours

	A	B
Income
Your share of the bills
Into shared savings
Personal savings
Debt payments
Guilt-free spending
= What's genuinely yours

THE RULE THAT STOPS MOST MONEY ARGUMENTS

UNDER THIS AMOUNT, EITHER OF US CAN SPEND WITHOUT ASKING

It genuinely does not matter what the number is. It matters that you both know it.

Month in Review

Money, hours, and each other

MONTH	SAVED	CHORE SPLIT	DATE NIGHTS	CHECK-INS

SIX HONEST CHECKS

- ☐ The bills are split fairly, not just evenly
- ☐ We had our weekly check-ins
- ☐ We're saving what we said we would
- ☐ Our goals are on track
- ☐ We had our date nights
- ☐ The housework is actually shared

If Incomes Change

Come back to this page. It takes five minutes.

RECALCULATE TOGETHER

THE MATH	A	B
New monthly income
New share of combined income
Shared bills total
= New fair share each
= As a % of your own income

AND ASK

\u2022 Does the chore split need to change too?

\u2022 Does anyone's guilt-free spending number change?

\u2022 Do any of the savings amounts change?
